LIBERALS PROTEST DELAY IN ELECTION

Railways Plan Soon To Reduce Branch Lines

Commission Asked to Authorize Abandonment of Twenty-four C.N.R. and Four C.P.R. Lines; Some in B.C.

C.N.R. Scraps Much Rolling Stock

Canadian Press
Ottawa, April 15.—The Board of Railway Commissioners said to-day that before it twenty-four applications from the Canadian National Railways and four from the Canadian Pacific Railway for abandonment of branch lines in five provinces — New Brunswick, Quebec, Ontario, Alberta and British Columbia,

The Canadian National asked leave to abandon almost 100 miles of branches in Quebec.

The Canadian Pacific asked leave to abandon in Quebec 21.9 miles between the United States boundary and Eastman.

The Canadian National expressed a desire to abandon 20.2 miles of track in Ontario.

In Alberta the Canadian National asked leave to abandon 37.2 miles of track on branches running between Peace River Junction (miles 21.0) and Dawson Junction (miles 62.6), a distance of 41.2 miles; and between (miles 62.6 and 102.6) (miles 62.6), a distance of 4.6 miles.

IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

The Canadian Pacific's application requests for abandonment of 20.5 miles in Western Columbia, 10.5 miles in Eastern Washington and Anchorage, a distance of 17.6 miles; Lethbridge and Galt, a distance of 24.1 miles.

The board announced last Saturday the Canadian National had asked leave to abandon two miles in New Brunswick covering 41 miles and that the Canadian Pacific sought to abandon 20.2 miles of track in Quebec.

Ottawa, April 15.—Following the decision of the Canadian National on United States railroads, the Canadian National Railways will put into effect an "economization programme of equipment rearmament," a recommendation to the Board of Trade made by Premier R. J. Bennett when he accepted his appointment as Minister of Transport.

In addition to normal retirements for 1934 amounting to $4,365,740, the company will charge to profit and loss a total of $20,250,000. This represents equipment rendered obsolete for a number of reasons.

In a memorandum to the chairman of the board of trustees, Mr. Hungerford recites the history of the system's development, with particular attention to its contribution to the condition of the country's equipment, and informed the board that as at January 1, 1934, the "all-wooden car" is now regarded as obsolete, that it is refined interchange privileges with other railways. Next year this prohibition will be extended to the wooden car with "metal arms."

This will have the result of scrapping 10,169 cars, the company retaining 18,986 for the carriage of grain, lumber and other products of Canada. At the same time a survey of the roads has disclosed that 570 passenger train cars "will never again be required for service."

BRITAIN CUTS INCOME TAXES

Reduction in Lower Ranges Announced in Budget; Pay Restoration

Associated Press
London, April 15.—A cut in the income tax rate and an increase in the personal exemption of married men were proposed to the House of Commons to-day in the budget.

Chamberlain announced the reduction of income tax in the lowest brackets. Instead of the present £175 ($664) of taxable income being charged at the rate of two shillings and six pence in the pound, the first £135 of taxable income will be charged at the rate of one shilling and six pence.

At present the personal exemption of a married man is raised from £150 ($729) to £170 ($809) and the exemption for each child is increased from £50 to £50 after the first child.

PAY RESTORATION

He also announced the full restoration of 10 per cent cut in civil service salaries that was effected in the economy stabs of 1931, half of which had previously been restored. This was the principal feature of the 1935-36 budget, which estimates a surplus of £5,610,000 will result from the cuts.

The cost of the income tax changes was estimated at £16,000,000 ($80,000,000) for the coming twelve months.

GATTIS SEEN

"The last year," said the Chancellor, "has been characterized by a substantial increase in prices."

"The movement is bound to be reflected right down to the purchasing power of the people. I have been able to find only one division where a new low record was established for trade and that was in the tea and tea disputes."

As he began his speech, he was roundly cheered, to the Prime Minister's surprise, who received the ovation shortly after his return by airplane from the Stresa conference.

NEW UNITY IS STRESA GAIN

Communiqué Reports British-French-Italian Agreement at Conference

Canadian Press

Stresa, Italy, April 15.—A determined unity among the three great western European powers was seen in conference circles to-day as the most significant contribution to peace resulting from the tripartite conversations of Great Britain, France and Italy.

Although disappointment was voiced in some quarters that the discussions had produced no concrete achievements, those who viewed the efforts with satisfaction pointed out that broader understandings were reached without the participation of Germany.

The opinion was general as the focal point of the movement for European stability moved from Stresa to Geneva that the "panic of war" was over.

The Council will assign one or more reporters to recommend proper action on the French memorandum.

On the same day the Council postponed a hearing of Ethiopia's request for League arbitration of the Somaliland border dispute with Italy until the regular May meeting of the Council.

ECONOMIC SANCTIONS

France's protest will not be discussed by the League Council until to-morrow, it was learned, since it resulted in a Council move to provide economic and financial assistance to any country further violating treaty obligations, and certain South American members of the League are hesitating to join such a stand.

The ticklish situation arising from the Chaco war, and the fact that reinforcing of Article XVI would require a further action in the case of warring Bolivia and Paraguay, caused the objections of South American states. It was learned, when the Council undertook dis-

WHERE FOURTEEN CHILDREN LOST LIVES

How a nocturnal crash in which a train at Rockville, Md., struck a school bus brought death to fourteen children who were passengers in the rear-end of the motor vehicle, is revealed by this picture taken shortly after the accident. It is to be noted that, in contrast with the jumbled wreckage toward the back of the bus, some of the front seats were left virtually intact. Eleven pupils and their teacher escaped injury. The driver is facing a charge of manslaughter.

French-German League Council Test To-morrow

Delegates Heard Paris Government's Protest on Reich's Rearmament and Delays Crucial Discussion For Day

Geneva, April 15.—The Council of the League of Nations, meeting in private session here, this afternoon, postponed discussion of the French protest on German rearmament until to-morrow at 11 a.m.

The Council will assign one or more reporters to recommend proper action on the French memorandum.

On the same day the Council postponed a hearing of Ethiopia's request for League arbitration of the Somaliland border dispute with Italy until the regular May meeting of the Council.

MAKING LIFE BETTER

Geneva, April 15.—The session of the League of Nations Council here to-day was preceded by a series of conferences yesterday evening among members of the Economic Commission for Europe, in a talk between Maxine Litvinoff, Soviet Commissar for Foreign Affairs, and Dr. Ernesto Cardenal, Cuban Foreign Minister, which gave rise to rumors discussions were in progress concerning a new system of alliance among bearing Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Bulgaria, Turkey, and Greece.

MAN SUFFERS DURING BLIZZARD

Canadian Press
Ottawa, April 15.—With both feet frozen in severe condition from exposure and hunger, Joseph Edward, thirty-one, British Columbia tramp, was found by school children here yesterday evening in the basement of an abandoned cement factory. He revived considerably after being taken to a hospital but was unable to tell much of his experience. He said he had left a freight train east of the city during Saturday morning's blizzard. After a struggle he reached EastCalgary and crawled into the cement plant for shelter.

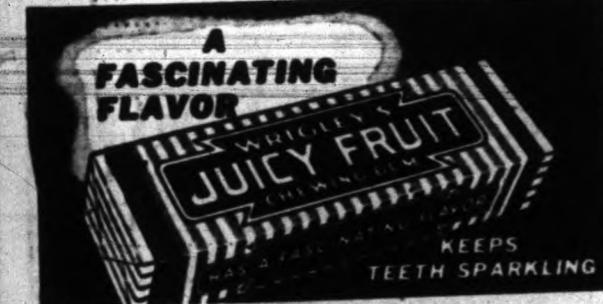

MIN GOES BACK TO PRISON CELL

Associated Press
Ossining, N.Y., April 15.—At his own request, Harry Iwanekya, forty-eight-year-old Sing Sing prison inmate, who was released from Sing Sing in 1931 on parole, pleaded to be remitted because he was afraid he "would get in more trouble."

"The convict argued he had violated his parole by leaving the state, and there was no reason his imprisonment should be imposed by needles red tape."

"How my Father raised a Family on $1 a Day" Mrs. F.A.C.

WHEN my father married he was just 24. His job brought him only $20 a day. My parents first task was to set about buying a small house. Their next move was to take out Life Insurance. As time went on there were five children. My father's wage was eventually raised to one dollar out of which we had to clothe and feed our large family—and still pay the premium on Life Insurance.

For 40 years my father worked from 7 to 6 o'clock without a day off. Then he began to show the effects. Whenever he sat down he would fall asleep. By this time my two oldest brothers had good jobs in the city. They persuaded my father to sell his house and move to the coast. Although he found work, he was not suited to it and turned back to Western Canada after five years.

He bought land and set to work, content that at last he had found the life he longed for—land for his sons; a home and independence in time for his family. Then a sad thing happened. While putting in his first crop he was stricken with paralysis. His insurance policy contained a disability feature. It was like a God-send as there was no money from the farm life for. This insurance money kept him comfortably provided for until he died four years later.

An early frost had ruined the crop. There was no ready money. It was a crisis and his insurance money "saved the day." All accounts were paid. We bought the adjoining quarter section, a map for cash. The first crop replaced the money easily. The children were given a good education. Today my mother is well provided for in her home with three of her children. All this was due largely to the Life Insurance my father had taken out when money was so scarce with us.

ISLAND SCOUTS HEAR WORLD LEADER'S MESSAGE

Amid Victoria's bright sunshine and brilliant spring weather, 2,000 Boy Scouts, Girl Guides, Wolf Cubs and Brownies listened to the message of Lord Robert Baden-Powell, Chief Scout, as he addressed them at the mammoth rally at the Willows on Saturday. In a huge horseshoe about the stadium where the Chief Scout and Chief Guide stood, members of the international youth organization listened with care to the leader's guidance and who counsel. A small portion of the crowd is shown against the railing in the foreground.

Thousands Hail Youth Leaders

Vancouver Island Scout and Guide Rally For Lord and Lady Baden-Powell Is Colorful Spectacle; 3,000 Persons Witnessed Great Youth Show on Saturday

after traveling great distances in many parts of the world, he would rather be on Vancouver Island than in any other parts of the Island.

The lovable Chief Scout and his lady relieved the days of their youth as they visited the various groups and in some instances volunteered to test the exhibits of scout and guide craft which the troops made. The 5,500 voices cheered lustily as the Chief Scout made his way to the speaker's desk and every word he spoke, transmitted to the crowd by the loudspeaker system, was applauded as he gave wise counsel and guidance to the hundreds of youngsters gathered around him in respect.

A battery of newspapermen and cameramen followed him as he went the rounds, inspecting the many fine examples of scoutcraft, while a movie camera recorded his actions as he spoke to the vast gathering.

GREAT TESTIMONY

It was scouting's greatest day in Victoria and a wonderful example of the respect with which the world-wide figure is held by those who have taken up the principles of his movement.

Gathered in a huge semi-circle about him as he spoke from a specially constructed stand in the infield, the protesters listened intently as he and Lady Baden-Powell referred to them as "our children," cheering each as they finished their addresses.

"The Chief Scout and his wife have been looking forward to this day for months and months," Lady Baden-Powell told the Guides and Brownies who gathered about the stand. "We know, too, that you have been busy making preparations for to-day and we thank you, and all your sister Guides in Canada, for the sincere welcome we have received."

PRASER'S APPEARANCE

Praser, the famous clown, with his acrobatic girls, their keen sense of humor, right, wrong and bright bangles, "and I know that under your uniforms your hearts must be beating right and in the right place," she said.

"We have come far to greet you—our children—for you are our children, you know, whether you like it or not," she said. "You all belong to a jolly sisterhood and we wish you the best of luck and future success.

She read a message from Her Royal Highness Princess Mary, who said she was watching with interest the progress of the movement and extended her wishes for future prosperity and prosperity. Her Royal Highness urged the Guides to spread the spirit of goodwill around them.

Lady Baden-Powell presented to the gathering, Mrs. A. Morkill, provincial Guide commissioner, whom she said, had been honored yesterday evening with the presentation of the highest order in Guiding—the Silver Plaque.

Three cheers were given for the Chief Guide.

TOYS EXHIBITS

The Chief Scout then proceeded on his inspection of the field. A large section of the infield was divided off for exhibitions of various branches of scouts and guides. The parade was headed by the smart bugle and drum corps from Third Victoria troop. The band then marched past the stand where the two Chiefs saluted them. The parade was headed by the smart bugle and drum corps from Third Victoria troop. The band then marched past the stand where the two Chiefs saluted them.

Among these was the rigging of a breeches buoy by the Cadboro Bay and Oak Bay Sea Scouts, which was actually demonstrated by carrying members of the troop about fifty feet into the Brownies' circle. As they emerged from the circle Lady Baden-Powell turned to the Chief and said: "Wasn't it wonderful?" She congratulated the Brownies, stating it was the best Brownie howl she had ever heard.

During his inspection of the field the Chief Scout personally greeted seventy Scout leaders of the city. He also met T. W. S. Parsons, assistant commissioner of British Columbia Provincial Police, who lent color to the exhibition with a delegation from the mounted troupe.

COLORFUL MARCH PAST

The day was concluded with the march past, which presented a truly colorful spectacle as the individual troops and packs, each led by their color bears, marched past the stand.

The parade was headed by the smart bugle and drum corps from Third Victoria troop. The band then marched past the stand where the two Chiefs saluted them.

We made them all feel at ease as soon as he started to speak when he stepped to the microphone and told them all to sit down, rather than stand up, to listen to him.

"You have heard the Chief Guide, and I know you do not like him," he said. "But he is a good fellow, a light weight, while Lady Baden-Powell plucked his arm and assured him they did want to hear him.

"You know," he continued, in the same vein, "I like you Guides much better than the Scouts, but, he added, with a smile and amid laughter from the crowd, "I like your little Brownies better than the Guides."

GOODWILL MESSAGE

The Chief Scout brought a message of goodwill and courage to the children. "Be friends among yourselves and in Canada," he said, "and then make neighbors of those across the border."

He told them of the wonderful opportunity they had on Vancouver Island to build themselves into healthy children.

"After traveling great distances in many parts of the world, I would rather live on Vancouver Island than in any other part of the world," he said.

He told the children they were lucky to be here and he wanted them to grow up and make Canada the finest country in the world. "There are ten Scout laws that you have been taught," he said, "but there is an eleventh: Don't listen to a lot of nonsense that someone wants to tell you, but listen to the other side, and on both sides of the argument, if it is a good argument," he said.

He brought a personal message from His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, who announced his pleasure at noting the growth of the Scout and Guide movements in Canada. They had grown in numbers, smartness and efficiency, he said, and hoped they would all grow up to be loyal and helpful citizens of Canada.

Following his address Lord Baden-Powell presented service awards to Major J. Wise, district Scout commissioner; Miss M. Bell, skele of First Nantaimo cup pack; and Freeman King, who has completed twenty-five years' in Scouting.

PEASERS' APPEAL

During his visit to the Langford bridge building, the Chief Scout demonstrated that even at seventy-eight he is still an active Scout. The bridge consisted of a piece of heavy rope strung between two posts, with lighter rope running along each side to support the person walking the single rope. After which the Chief Scout climbed up to the bridge and walked along it and cheered from the crowd in the grandstand.

Then followed the salutes to the Chief Scout and the Chief Guide by the Cub and Brownie Scouts, the Cub Scouts, the Chief Scout first, followed by the Cub Scouts, County of Victoria, the Barnabas Pack, into a huge circle of Cuba, and was there given the Grand Cub Howl of "A-i-k-a-i-a—well do our best."

Four little Brownies, Joan Penwick, of Second Victoria West; Jean Oliver, Gonzales; Elsie, Davison; and Dorothy Adams, North Saanich, led the Chief Scout and Chief Guide.

A Plan to Finance Your Future

Modern life insurance plans are as varied and flexible that they can be adapted to any personal or family requirements.

Great-West Life policies will provide an income for your wife and children for a given number of years or for life; bring you a guaranteed income for life at any selected age; provide a specified sum in cash at any age you wish; furnish the necessary funds to educate your children; or guard against any contingency which might face yourself or your family in the future.

Is it any wonder that millions of Canadian men and women have made plans to finance their future in this safe, sure and inexpensive way? For instance, if you are in the Preferred Risk Class, a little less than 30c a day (age 35) will provide $5,000 protection under the Great-West Preferred Whole Life plan, and you share, as well, in the profits of the Company.

Great-West Life profit-sharing policies are both safe and profitable—whether you live to a good old age or not.

You would enjoy reading some true stories telling what insurance with The Great-West Life has done for others. A number of these stories are now available in booklet form. Mail the coupon for your copy free.

LIVESTOCK GAINS SEENGrowing Indications of Up-swing in Industry in Canada Reported

Canadian Press
Ottawa, April 15.—The recent sales of pure bred bulls in western Canada are regarded as a definite barometer indicating an upward swing in the livestock industry. Reports from the Department of Agriculture from the sales have given cause for optimism. These sales held in Brandon, Manitoba, Calgary and Edmonton.

The price paid by ranchers for pure bred bulls indicate the confidence the farmers have in the future of the cattle business since these bulls were brought to improve stock on the range. At the sales, particularly in the Calgary, higher prices were paid than in former years. One bull at Calgary brought a top price of $1,500, according to information officials have received.

The department bought a large number of bulls which it will loan to agricultural societies in the west but in addition to government buyers the purchases by ranchers were higher than in former years.

COMMISSIONERS' SUGGESTIONS

Improved demand for high grade live cattle in the United States is the chief cause for the demand for pure bred bulls, according to Senator D. E. Riley, a rancher himself, who is particularly well informed on livestock matters. He regarded favorably many recommendations of the price spreads commission for helping the industry.

The proposal that very poor grades be taken off the market and converted into tankage or fertilizer, the senator said, would help considerably. It would reduce the supply of beef offered to that extent. Further, this poor beef often discourages people from buying beef at all.

Departmental officials also expressed the view that it would be feasible to promote the sale of very poor quality beef although they do not see an end to the market.

In his minority report, E. J. Young, Liberal, Weyburn, Sask., one of the commissioners, took exception to keeping the old and thin cattle off the market.

"Such action," he said, "would be injurious, both to the farmers who find themselves with this kind of stock on their hands, and to large numbers of consumers who cannot afford the more expensive meat."

A wide demand for grading hogs on the rail is sweeping Canada, according to applications received by the Department of Agriculture. This is another phase of livestock marketing dealt with in the report although the commissioners did not take a very definite stand and much has happened since they heard evidence on the subject.

Grading on the rail means grading after the animal has been dressed. This is the practice in Denmark. The practice in Canada has been to grade the animal on the hoof, which was more accurate.

PIGGY WIGGLYWEIGHTS

The following is an extract from Piggy Wiggly instructions to all employees covering the weighing of merchandise:

ALL STORE AND MARKET EMPLOYEES PLEASE NOTE! All merchandise sold by weight must be weighed when purchased by the customer, regardless of size or shape of potato, or sugar, or any other item, only a few minutes before. When the customer brings it to the checking counter, it must be weighed, and customers must be charged for exactly what they buy.

These instructions have always been in effect in Piggy Wiggly stores, and customers will confer a favor by noting that their purchases are handled according to instructions.

WHAT ARE WE DOING?

IT IS NATURAL THAT MORE IS HEARD about unemployment and the depression in the coast cities than in communities considerably removed from the more congested areas. This is not to say that the rest of the province is not suffering proportionately from the effects of the economic conditions with which the country as a whole still is faced. But the fact remains that from such districts as Nelson, Trail, Kamloops, Vernon, and Kelowna the howl, if there be a howl, about bad times does not seem to be either very loud or insistent.

Take the case of Nelson. A short time ago the citizens of that community made up their minds they were not going to permit Mother Nature to cheat them out of the business that municipality has been deriving every winter from patronage of its winter sports facilities; they felt they had been let down badly for the last year or so by seasons too mild for outdoor recreational pursuits such as curling, and skating, and so on. So they voted an overwhelming majority to spend $150,000 on a great arena equipped to meet most of the needs of winter sports. Here is a sample of community spirit of which Victoria might well take note.

Take the case of Trail. It is scarcely a parallel with that of Nelson, but it is another indication, as with Nelson and other interior points, that the outlook for the future is full of promise, and that as that promise materializes, so will the rest of the province benefit directly or indirectly from what is going on elsewhere. The announcement from Trail on Saturday was that the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company will erect another unit at its great plant there for the purpose of extracting sulphur dioxide from the zinc plant gases. The structure will require the expenditure of at least $2,500,000.

Since 1905, incidentally, when the present company began operations, up till 1933, it had turned out products worth $364,032,694, while the report for 1934, not yet issued, is expected to show another profitable year. The enterprise employs approximately 4,000 men in all its numerous branches.

Both Nelson and Trail depend very largely for their progress on the products of the mine. Both, however, are fortunate in their possession of a community spirit which takes every advantage of the wealth with which Nature has provided them with a lavish hand. Yet Nature has been no kinder to those two sections of the interior of British Columbia than she has been to Vancouver Island. Right at our very doors is a storehouse of treasure merely waiting to be unlocked. Initiative, faith in the future of Vancouver Island—not lip-service—intensive development and, of course, more and better roads, are all that is required to speed the island's ascent from the depression pit.

SURELY NOT

WE DO NOT KNOW WHETHER MINISTER OF EDUCATION HON. G. M. WEIR noticed recently what Gertrude Stein, the well-known American author, has been saying about education. But if the following extract from some of her observations has caused you to scratch your head and wonder what it means. Say Gertrude:

"Education is thought about and as it is thought about it is being done in the way it is thought about, which is not true of almost anything. Almost anything is not done in the way it is thought about but education is it is done in the way it is thought about and that is the reason so much of it is done in New England and Switzerland. There is an extraordinary amount of it done in New England and Switzerland. In New England they have done it they do it they will do it and they do it in every way in which education can be thought of."

Of course, when all is said and done, most people will agree that if there is anything to be done the best way to do it is to do it. Moreover, if to do it there is an urgent necessity to think about it and do it the way it is thought about, well, then, there is all the more reason why it should be done. In any event, Miss Stein's meaning, to say the least, should be as clear as mud to most people, even as clear as the following gem about the newspapers:

"What do they want to know in the newspapers that is what does anybody want to know just anybody and do they want to know what they do want to know or do they only think so only think they want to know what they do want to know from the newspapers because if they do if they only think so then they do get what they want. What they want or think they want to know what they want in the newspapers is to know every day what happened the day before and to get the feeling that it has happened on that day the same day and not on the day before. That is what the American newspaper is supposed to do to make it be as if they the newspapers had it to do that is to make the things that happened yesterday happen to-day. And do they do so?"

The foregoing appeared in the Old Country publication, Time and Tide, owned and edited by Lady Rhondda, and of which another writer, Mr. Wyndham Lewis, has this to say: "It is these occasional pieces that the child-personality of Miss Stein is discovered in its acutest form. But the child with her is always overshadowed by the imbecile. That is to say, that very clever, very resourceful Gertrude Stein is heavily indebted to the poor honest lunatic for her mannerisms. . . . The massive silence of the full idiot, unfortunately, is out of her reach."

For he it from us to besmirch any of Miss Stein's works with coarse, semi-colonial, or periods; but we are constrained to repeat to her now that she has had her fill at education and the newspapers in her own style, a treatise on the Douglas Social Credit formula ought to go down well, that is, if she keeps to her given style.

EDWARD LEASON PASSES

EWAN on Saturday, was a fine citizen in every sense of the term whom less will be widely mourned. His inherent kindness and tolerance, his unselfishness, his never-failing practical sympathy for others, his uniformly friendly disposition, featured a character and personality which was for him the unreserved affection of a host of friends who will find it hard to adjust themselves to an orbit from which his buoyant presence and helpful counsel will be missing.

Apart from his long association with the civil service of British Columbia, in which he served first as assessor and collector of taxes, subsequently becoming surveyor of taxes, a post he held until he retired on superannuation nearly two years ago, Mr. Leason was able to extend his acquaintance with hundreds of prominent citizens throughout the Pacific Northwest during the many years he was actively identified with Freemasonry. For three and a half decades—from its inception—he held the important position of Recorder of Gitz Temple of the Shrine. He was also a Past Master of St. Andrew's Lodge, A.F. and A.M., No. 49, a thirty-second degree member of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite; he also belonged to the Red Cross of Constantine. His association with fraternal societies likewise extended to the I.O.O.F. In all of these organizations Mr. Leason was a tireless worker, his devotion to the duties which membership in them imposed upon him remaining for those whom he leaves behind an inspiring example.

Mr. Leason's record of humanitarianism reached a high mark when he interested himself in the Queen Alexandra Solarium at Mill Bay. It was very largely through his initiative, his constant thought of the welfare of others, that the Shrine unit of this fine institution took shape. As a director of the Solarium, the practical interest which Mr. Leason manifested in its development never waned, and he will be sorely missed by his colleagues on the board.

To his widow and family The Times extends its sincere sympathy in their irreparable loss.

VANCOUVER ISLAND FIRST

WHAT DISTINGUISHED VISITORS have said about Victoria from time to time has been pretty thoroughly broadcast in the literature of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau. Repetition has in no wise detracted from the truth or impressiveness of these statements; but the bureau must feel gratified to Lord Baden-Powell for having supplied it with a brand new 1935 model of praise. Said the Chief Scout at the Willows on Saturday when he addressed the vast assembly of Scouts and Guides:

After traveling great distances in many parts of the world, I would rather live on Vancouver Island than in any part of the world.

Lord Baden-Powell and his charming spouse could not have selected a finer early spring week in which to visit this part of British Columbia. The weather was perfect and Victoria thoroughly enjoyed having such popular visitors as its guests. And naturally we like what the Chief Scout said about Vancouver Island. It can be added by the Publicity Bureau to those glowing tributes from Kipling, the Marquis of Lorne, and, latterly, from such a widely-read writer as Arthur Brisbane. Said Kipling of Victoria:

"To realize Victoria you must take all that the eye admires most in Bournemouth, Torquay, the Isle of Wight, and the Happy Valley at Hongkong, the Doon, Sorrento, and Camps Bay; add reminiscences of the Thousand Islands, and arrange the whole around the Bay of Naples, with some Himalayas in the background." That, according to Kipling, is Victoria. Lord Baden-Powell was more simple but to the point.

TO THE BONEYARD

W^HEATEN DEATH—A VICTIM OF THE SPANISH FLU epidemic has been buried in Victoria. The world's most favored liners of modern times have been headed towards the shipbreakers. It was announced long ago that the Leviathan, after a valiant but unsuccessful struggle to get out of the red ink columns, would be turned over to the United States Navy Department for breaking up; and now it is reported from London that the famous Mauretania will very soon be broken up at Rosyth, Scotland.

Of these two giant liners, the Mauretania has certainly had the greater share of luck. For twenty-seven years she has been one of the acknowledged queens of the sea. Until the Germans sent out their new express liners, she held the mythical "blue ribbon" for speed.

The Leviathan, on the other hand, was born under an unlucky star. Interned in New York in 1914, she lay idle until used as a troop ship. After the war she was put into passenger service, but she never paid her way. In all her peace-time service she was a white elephant.

And now both of these ships are on the way out. The roster of Atlantic steamers will not seem the same without either the Mauretania or the Leviathan. But this year will see two new giants—the greatest ships of all time, the Queen Mary and the French liner Normandie. Both are more than 1,000 feet long and each have a tonnage of more than 70,000.

Will these monsters pay their way? Will the prophecy which Sir Alfred Yarrow made in Victoria a few years ago come true? He said, in effect, eventually shipping companies will come back to the slower but just-as-comfortable 20,000-toners.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

A STAGGERING COST.
The Edmonton Journal

If anyone doubts that the cost of social services conducted by governments is going to increase steadily, a little study of what has happened in Great Britain shows prove illuminating. That country spends $2,400,000,000 on such services, of, let's say, a per capita expenditure of $60.

THE SIN OF OVERWORK
The Ottawa Citizen

The Prime Minister is a Biblio reader. There is a verse in the twelfth chapter of Luke beginning, "Consider the lilies how they grow: they toil not, they spin not. . . ." There might be just a delicate hint in this verse against the sin of overworking. It related to Solomon, one of the wisest of men, also one of the most successful rulers.

Loose Ends

Play the poor rich, who deserve your worst sympathy—Why pick on Mr. Ludendorff?—Mr. McGee uses the telephone—And the politicians play politics.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

POOR SOULS

THE PEOPLE you ought to be sorry for these days are the rich. I doubt that a hard-hearted public has ever stopped to consider the misery of the rich in these times. I doubt that you have ever paused to shed a tear as you saw a rich man roll by in his limousine. Yet the rich these days are worthy of your most tender solicitude. They are the most unhappy section of the population and the most anxious.

You, who have nothing to lose, may regard the rich with some contempt. You may observe the reduction of interest rates without a qualm. You may see Premier Hepburn chuck out his power contracts and never emit a single pip, because it means nothing to you. But to the poor, down-trodden rich these things come such like a stab of physical pain, nearest the heart and that other more sensitive and vital organ, the pocket-book.

In the last few weeks I have talked to a number of rich men. Their tales of despair were pitiful to hear. They would move anything but the immovable public. Such gassing of teeth! such predictions of disaster and presentations of ruin! With fellows like McGee and Hepburn loose in the world there can never be any peace for wealth; and the fellows who have it and expect to keep it are far more unhappy than the fellows who can't lose it because they haven't got it.

There is only one thing worse than to be poor these days and that is to be rich; for while you won't admit it and don't realize it, if you were rich to a number of rich men you would be worrying day and night lest you might become poor. Whereas I dare say you never lie awake at night lest you might become rich. There seems to be no danger of that. You have thus a great deal to be thankful for.

PACAN

THE NEWSPAPERS are full of horror at the announcement of General Ludendorff that he is a heathen and proud of it. Indeed, you would imagine by the editorials gushed out on this subject that Mr. Ludendorff was the only heathen in the world. There are a number of others, if you care to look up the statistics. There are a great many more heathens than Christians and always were. There are a great many more heathens than Christians not only in heathendom but also in Christendom.

For this reason one fails to see why the paganism of Mr. Ludendorff is any news at all. One suspects that, if you could get the true facts, most of the world's generals and statesmen are not Christians either, but they lack Mr. Ludendorff's charming frankness.

Personally, this observer has only met a dozen or so Christians in his life, and not one among the rising generation. The rising generation seems to be almost unanimously pagan and outrageously proud of it. It doesn't believe Mr. Ludendorff's mediæval nation of racial religion and his conception of a sort of national heathen god with long yellow whiskers and a dripping sword. Generally it doesn't believe in anything which is probably untrue.

PROPHECY.

MR. GERRY MCGERE spent about $10 on the long distance telephone yesterday to ring me up from Vancouver to tell me that all is well. I cannot imagine him making such an investment unless he were pretty sure of his facts for, despite the common notion, he is an economical soul.

Anyway, Mr. McGee tells me that he has made a study of the latest series of mysterious moves completed by the United States government through the Federal Reserve Board—moves which do not baffle and complicate the average citizen. They have no motion that they mean. They mean something to Mr. McGee, who certainly understands banking, whatever you may think of him. That the United States is quietly nationalizing its public credit and isn't going to keep on borrowing $5,000,000,000 a year of interest, as it has been doing lately.

In fact, Mr. McGee thinks the United States is without a public supporting it for a moment, is adopting the McGee style of monetary reform to the letter. By 1936, he says, they will have prosperity over there such as they had in 1929, or better.

Curiously enough, on the same day when McGee was spending $10 to tell me this, the largest credit organization in the United States was predicting the greatest uptake in business in twenty-five years.

Also on the same day a friend of mine returned from California after spending the winter there and assured me that the people in the richest state of the union are all talking about the breakdown of the whole economic system and the imminence of revolution.

I just set these predictions down but you can see which turns out right, but the only safe plan now-a-days is to doubt all forecasts and suspect every certainty.

PLAYING POLITICS

THE COMMON COMPLAINT at the moment is that the politicians of Canada, in advocating large economic reforms, are just playing politics, in the hope of getting elected. A lot of electors are prepared to vote against the very reforms they desire because they'll be darned if they're going to let the politicians put one over on them like that.

You would think there was something fundamentally wrong, immoral and dishonest in politicians trying to do what the public wants in order to get elected; whereas obviously there have been some very valuable features of our whole Mad Hatter's system of government. It alone makes the system sane and workable in spite of its madness.

If the politicians didn't have to play politics to get elected, if they didn't have to do what the public wants at least once in every four years, what kind of a situation would you have? You'd still have a twelve-hour working day in industry and wages of about $1.

When you are suspicious of a politician because he is going to do what you want in order to get elected, you are merely suspicious of your own intelligence and your own qualifications to vote. You are suspicious often well justified. Rather thank heaven that the politicians are playing politics and doing something worth while because they are afraid of being defeated. If they didn't have to get your favor somehow, nothing worth while would ever do.

Letters will not be re-written to the writers.

Letters containing offensive personal reflections will not be printed.

The rules, which henceforth will be carried out absolutely, are designed as much for the protection of our patients readers as for that of The Times.

CAUTION!

The Times will not assume responsibility for the return to the writers of articles sent for publication in the Correspondence Column or anywhere else in this newspaper, whether or not signed, and no authorship will be acknowledged except where the author has specially solicited.

GOVERNORS AND BISHOPS

To the Editor—I am also another who does not like the idea of sending to Englishmen Governor-Generals and bishops, as I feel it is very unfair to our country and the clergy who everybody knows have worked very hard and are certainly entitled to be considered first. And as for the Governor-General I am sure we have here in Canada men as apt and educated as any in the world, and I am afraid they will be disappointed if any attempt will be made to appoint one from Canada.

Crippled Scouts Meet Their Chief

The visit of Lord Robert Baden-Powell, Chief Scout, to the Willow grounds Saturday during the Vancouver Island event only, brought untold cheer to at least two scouts of the island section, who, although not able to take advantage of many scouting activities, were personally greeted by the Chief as he toured the field.

They were William Horne, of the Third Victoria troop, who is assisting the submaster, and awaiting his warrant as assistant submaster; and Robert Gray, a young lad who is one of the five members of the Scout troop at the Queen Alexandra School. Both are crippled, but experienced the happiest moments of their lives while the Chief stopped and talked to them for a few minutes during his tour.

"Robbie" Gray, a lad on crutches, who has been a scout at the Solarium for three years, was stationed at the entrance of the campsite from which the Chief spoke. He beamed as Lord Robert spoke to him, and possessed a happy smile as he told a Times reporter that he had joined the Solarium troop shortly after it was formed. He comes from Prince George.

A. C. M. Horne is confined to a wheelchair, but was able to make his way to the field to greet his beloved Chief, who chatted with him for several minutes. He has been a scout for five years.

These incidents passed unnoticed by hundreds who attended the rally, but they served to illustrate the humane disposition of the man who has commanded world respect for his activities among the youth of every country.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

A fine letter from Mrs. Snyder: "I have had trouble with my bowels for years, taking all kinds of pills and drugs, with no relief."

"One year ago, I saw Kellogg's ALL-BRAN and bought a package. I have good movements every day. I am 72 years old. I am telling my friends what bran has done for me.—Mrs. Sallie Snyder. Address open request."

"Constipation due to insufficient
"bulk" in meals."

Research shows that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN furnishes "bulk" to exercise the intestines. With each meal, it also supplies vitamin B, as well as fibre, an element of the blood.

Two tablespoonsfuls daily are usually sufficient to correct constipation. With each meal, in serious cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN resists digestion better than the "bulk" in leafy vegetables. How much better to use this food in place of patent medicines.

At all grocers in the red-and-green packaging. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

CHAPLIN'S SONS IN FISTICUFFS

Comedian's Boys Fight Over
Little Girl in Movie Theatre

Associated Press

Hollywood, April 15.—The two young sons of Charles Chaplin, screen comedian, the reported principals of Hollywood's latest off-the-screen fight, were in action to-day—for a streetcar ride.

The young lady over whom they fought in a movie theatre while they were in the role of father and son, received the best information at hand, seeking reimbursement for the expenditure of her ice cream soda Monday for a street car ride.

The feminine cause of the fight, whose name remained a dark secret to-day, was said to have gone to the theatre with Charles Chaplin Jr., nine years of age, and Sydney Earl Chaplin, eight, being driven there behind a liveried chauffeur.

Sydney, so it was said, reached over and stole a kiss from the girl while his brother and his brother.

Two-faced Charles, who claimed the honor of sharing the date, was equal to the occasion. What followed will rank forever with other famous fights Hollywood has witnessed.

But the girl in the case, disgusted and angered, and even perhaps frightened, left the scene. She took a streetcar home, but in doing so sacrificed the ice cream soda that was to have followed the show.

Nature Builds Your Body—

but you supply the materials.

Health suffers if you run short of iron.

Your food and drink are the only materials Nature gets to maintain body strength and well-being. But the quality of modern foods is their shortcoming. Sooner or later this has an effect upon the health. It causes, of course, a run-down condition and disease, and then develops into serious afflictions, if not checked.

This was shown to be true in a group of forty-five people whose blood was examined by a competent authority. In forty cases the blood was thinner and paler than it should have been, due to the shortage of iron. The authority who conducted the tests recorded the exact amount of the shortage for each person, from just over one of them on up to thirty-four. The highest figure was Dr. William's Pink. He found such persons had a sickly, anaemic colour. In one case he examined their blood again and found that the red corpuscles and the iron had definitely increased in every case.

This is a demonstration of what this fine old remedy can do for you. If . . . as is likely . . . you need iron. Wouldn't you like to feel really strong and vigorous again? Wouldn't you like to eat well, sleep soundly, take a keen interest in life around you . . . ? Then put yourself on a 30-day treatment with Dr. William's Pink Tonic. Directly you begin taking this simple old preparation, the recuperative process will start. The blood will grow thicker . . . will carry more oxygen . . . Old aches and pains will melt away. Old aches and pains will give way to new vigour and better outlook on life. You will know once again the joy of regaining that golden trueman . . . health! Full size box $2.50.

LITTLE ARTISTS SCORE SUCCESS

Eurydice Club and Dominion Academy Share Honors in Entertainment

It has been said, "The public is the best judge of what the public wants," and according to the high standard of Friday's programme, sponsored by the Eurydice Art Club, and its enthusiastic reception by a large audience which filled the Shrine Auditorium, the Victoria public demand an extremely high quality of entertainment and are really appreciative when it is presented.

The first part of the programme consisted of a piece in three acts, entitled "The Magic Shirt." This was presented by the Juvenile Society of the Eurydice Art Club, the children ranging in age from seven to twelve years. Mrs. W. B. McMillin, president, together with her very able director, Miss Alice Parker and Dorothy Clegg, whose names are to be congratulated and commanded for the work they are doing in fostering the unbroken talent of these small people.

The numerous parts were all excellently taken, the audibility being good throughout, and no manner of strain giving the slightest effort of strain in the delivery of his or her lines. There was real feeling and spontaneity, especially at times, and notably in the case of the King, played by Sylvia Birrell, who succeeded in driving home her lines and receiving a maximum of laughs.

This part of the programme was brought to a close with recitation by Ethel Macmillin, and dance by Gweneth Clegg. Mrs. Harry Silver was the able accompanist for the Juveniles.

To that part of the concert which followed the intermission, it is difficult to do justice in a brief space.

Piano, interspersed with vocal and elocution numbers, were rendered in such a manner, by the artists of the Dominion Academy of Music, as to leave one, like Oliver Twist, eager for more.

Cultured beauty of voice in even the youngest elocutionist, beautiful placing and ease and sureness of technique in each vocalist were strikingly apparent. Phrases so clear-cut and defined, that they became almost visible to the listener, purity of tone and vitality of rhythm distinguished the performers without exception.

A feature of the programme were the original compositions, the first of which, impromptu in G. Robin Wood, aged ten, was played by the young composer himself, from memory, as the actual notes have never been committed to paper. The composition shows a remarkable sense of form, and attractiveness for colorful harmonies.

The "Fiddler of Dreams," sung by Josephine Charlebois with tender feeling and lovely pianism, is a charming and sympathetic musical setting by Stanley Shire, principal of the academy, to words by Audrey Alexander Brown, the spirit of the music being truly reflected in the music.

A group of piano compositions by Stanley Shire was also played by Marjorie Daniels, who brought to the performance all her very considerable artistry and understanding. The programme ran to a fitting and inspiring climax with the playing of the last Second Rhapsody. This young pianist not only played with brilliance and fire but left one with the feeling that she had, even so, infinite resources of technical ability to call upon.

Others taking part in the exceptionally attractive programme included: Ethel Birrell, Ivy Dunnett, Irene Birrell, Jean Ray, Lydia Lyster, Julian Jones, Robin Wood, Eve Aldridge, Nettie Hunter, Freda Nuttall, Dorothy McVic, Peggy McVic, Evalind Hunter, Grace Pink, Muriel Henry, Phoebe Ray, Dorothy Dryer, Dorothy Jubb, Barbara Lowe, Evelyn Bates, Dorothy Groves, all of whom appeared in the Eurydice Club's play; and, in the second half of the programme, Joy Groves and Ruth Horton, in recitations; Margaret Lennox, John Ware, Alice Barclay and Louise Noble, in songs, and Ruth Sedgman, Katherine Clegg, Dorothy Harper and Katherine Craig, pianists, pupils of the Dominion Academy, with Miss E. Barfoot, Mrs. C. Cole, Miss Kathleen Irvine and Miss S. B. Moore ably sharing the role of accompanist, while Mrs. Harold Groves accompanied her daughter, Joy.

A WOMAN asks: "Would you consider that your husband loved you if he never showed you any tenderness or affection; if he never told you that you looked nice, or that the dinner was good, or the house well kept, or that you were a good manager; if he went out almost every night, but never asked you to go with him; if he never gave you any money without your asking for it, and gave that grudgingly; if he never asked you if you wouldn't like a new dress or hat or made you a present even on your birthday or Christmas; if he never confided in you, and if he told you that his personal affairs were none of your business, etc., etc.? Would you think a man who treated you that way loved you?"

No, I wouldn't think that a man who treated his wife that way loved her, nor would I think a woman loved her husband who never showed him a particle of love or appreciation; who sacrificed him to the whims of a baby; who seemed to regard him as nothing but a slave to work for her and the children; who took all he gave her without even saying "thank you"; who never spoke to him except to find fault; who nagged the life out of him; who never made the slightest effort to entertain or amuse him or make him comfortable.

You wouldn't think that kind of wife loved her husband. Every bit of the evidence is against it, just as it is against the man loving the wife whose heart he breaks with his indifference and neglect. Any jury would bring in a verdict of "not guilty" in such cases, yet nine times out of ten it would be wrong.

For married love is such a weird and incomprehensible thing that you cannot judge of the feeling between husband and wife by their attitude toward each other. Often the husband and wife treat each other callously, even brutally, yet, in reality, devoted to each other.

The man who would die before he would tell his wife that she looked pretty in her new frock secretly considers her Miss America. The woman who weeps over her breast and worries over every crime in the calendar will be in your hair the next minute if you agree with her on a single point. The philanderer who tortures his wife with his infidelities never really loves his wife but her, and considers all other women as dirt compared to her.

Why this is thus, no one can explain. It is just part of the mysterious bond between husbands and wives that makes them feel they are not much of a part of each other than they no more have to express it than they have to call attention to the fact that they have eyes or hands or feet. It is something so vital that each thinks the other must know it, must know without being told that they are the very core of the other's being, and that each thinks the other the most wonderful person in the world. Hence there is no necessity of compliments or polite phrases between them.

Observation shows that the husbands and wives who quarrel most violently when together are frequently so devoted to each other that they are miserable if parted, and that the married couple who grumble most about each other's faults really think each other perfect. So well is this understood that we are all a little suspicious of the husbands and wives who are too punctilious with each other. We feel that the affection that has to be continually expressing itself in petting and "darlings" and "sweethearts" and fulsome praise in a phony as the virtue that has to be publicly proclaimed.

Hence, because a man does not tell his wife every day that she is the one woman in the world to him, nor that he loves her more than having got her for a wife, is no sign he doesn't love her. Nor does the fact that a wife is not always telling her husband that she considers him better looking than Clark Gable and that she adores him for all his goodness and generosity to her, indicate that she doesn't appreciate everything that is fine and good in him. But, unfortunately, not all husbands and wives are mind readers who are able to look into the hearts of their dumb mates and see what they really feel and think.

So there are thousands upon thousands of husbands and wives who go through marriage doubling the affection of the wives and husbands who really love them, pining for the tender words that are never said, the caresses that are never given them, the praise they never receive, starving for something more than the dry huts of matrimonial duty.

A physician once told me that the most pathetic deathbed scene he ever witnessed was one in which a cold, silent, take-it-for-granted husband poured out his soul to his wife, who was literally dying for lack of affection. "If you had only told me once that you felt like that about me," said the woman, "I could have lived and been happy, but it is too late now."

All of which goes to show that dumb love is dumb in every sense of the word. We need something more than silent love to make the long road of marriage easy going.

Uncle Wiggily's Funny Cousin

By HOWARD R. GARIS

The postman dog blew his whistle merrily in front of Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump house and warning,

"I got the mail!" shouted Baby Bunting, the crimson rabbit, as she jumped up from the breakfast table.

"It's my turn," said Jingle, her twin sister.

The crimson rabbit girl jumped up from the breakfast table and started a race to the front door anxious to get Uncle Wiggily's letters for the baby family.

"Wait a minute," said Uncle Wiggily, as he was sitting at the head of the table, vermillion pink nose, said:

"Baby Bunting, I spoke first." Jingle and Jangle knew this was fair, so they went back to their seats and waited until Uncle Wiggily had read it to the end.

"This is a favorite time to chase new babies," Uncle Wiggily said, preparing for reasonable changes of many sorts. It is a lucky rule under which to sign partnerships of any sort.

Women are well disposed to-day. It is an auspicious time for chaperones, especially those who are not through with their youth.

Weddings to-day have the best chance of success, but the direction of the stars may depend upon lasting love and an equality of participation.

It is a fortunate way for mediocres and milifers. Again the stars predict renewed interest in the revival of old-fashioned art.

Despite the rising tide of peace sentiment there are still many where Germany is to display more old and new sports.

There are many unusual rumors and much suspicion in Europe, but all there will be better understandings among persons.

Persons whose birthday it is have the security of a year of successful progress.

Practical and pleasurable are foremost.

Children born on this day will be especially happy.

Subjects of this sign may be courtly in manners but rather inclined to keep their own counsel.

With Uncle Wiggily, who was born on this day, 1897. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday are: 1865, Charles Wilson Peale, painter and writer; 1861, Sir John Franklin, English explorer; 1920, (Copyright, McClure Publishing Syndicate)

"The stars incline, but do not compel."

TUESDAY, APRIL 16, 1935

This is a day of fair promise, according to astrology. Successes are destined, although some difficulties are active.

Under this rule of the stars there may be an increase in popularity, to get the public's attention, especially in public gatherings.

This is a favored time to choose new business partners and to prepare for reasonable changes of many sorts. It is a lucky rule under which to sign partnerships of any sort.

YOUTH KILLED
HIS PARENTS

Woodward, Okla., April 15.—Russell Boley, eighteen, was east to-day by O. C. Davis of the state bureau on criminal identification and investigation to have confessed he shot and killed his mother and father, whose bodies were found in their burning farm home near here February 5.

James G. Young, county attorney, said he was preparing to prosecute.

Davis said Boley, former student at the Northeastern Oklahoma Teachers' College, had signed a confession admitting he shot his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. John Boley, both forty-three, passed away on the same night, Young said. They were discovered lying in their beds, "one in the other's arms," said Davis.

"He didn't know what he did," said Boley.

"He didn't know what he did," said Boley.

Tells Before Notary

MR. S. SANSONE

In his sworn statement Mr. Sansone, 44 Front St. W., Toronto, tells how Fruit-a-tives brought him complete relief from indigestion. He made the statement of his experience under oath before a notary so that everyone can be sure of its absolute truth. He states: "For a long time I suffered badly from indigestion. I tried everything but I continued to get worse. A friend of mine recommended Fruit-a-tives and after taking them for a short time I began to feel much better. It was not long before I was entirely well and could eat anything without pain or after effects."

Copy of Mr. Sansone's complete sworn statement is now available. Write Fruita-tives Limited, Ottawa, Canada.

CHURCH BALL LOOP FORMED

Representatives from the various teams of the United Church Young People's Softball League met last week to arrange matches for the forthcoming season.

Rules of play were drawn up as follows:

The teams will consist of ten players, five men and five women. All players are to be members in good standing of the society which they represent.

Men's rules will be used regarding the diamond.

The games will start at 6:30 o'clock and all players are advised to be on hand fifteen minutes earlier. The home team will supply the ball and each team will supply its own bats.

The home team will supply the uniforms and the visiting team will provide the base umpire.

In the playoffs the leading team will have a bye. The second and third teams will play a sudden-death game and the winner will play the first team in a two-out-of-three game final series.

There will be no fees and each team will supply its own equipment. The schedule for these games will appear later.

MEMEL, a short strip of land bordering East Prussia and Lithuania, is the newest bargaining point of the astute Adolf Hitler in his effort to regain Germany's "place in the sun." Under allied control after the World War, this Baltic port was seized by Lithuania in 1923 as its only outlet to the sea. The League of Nations sanctions the seizure...under certain restrictions. Lithuania's stern punishment of Nazi demonstrators there have caused Hitler to demand that the rights of the Germans in Memel be respected. That, observers believe, is his first step toward a plebiscite which would return the territory to Germany.

Memel's postage has been a mixture of French and German stamps surcharged locally. After Lithuania's seizure, special stamps were issued for Memel. Now Lithuanian stamps are used.

The prospects for regeneration on the Silicon stand was good, said Mr. Cavell. The soil was rich and was well torn up by the tractor. Except for the unknown factors of wind, fall, and frost, he said, the crop would be excellent.

At Ekashamne, twenty miles south of Astoria, another operation is going ahead. The situation here is different. The stand consists of mixed spruce, fir and a few cedar and hemlock. Last year small islands of spruce were taken out and a stand of spruce was taken out this year fir and cedar is being logged. This leaves clear cut sections of one to five acres. It really amounts to "spot-cutting" rather than selective logging. One of the chief difficulties faced was that of disposing of the slash.

On both of these operations, said Mr. Campbell, high lead methods were used on rough ground.

Summing up his observations, Mr. Cavell said opinion was sharply divided in Washington and Oregon as to the advisability of the system. Advocates claimed it was sound economically. It would leave a number of trees which might be of value and found the best to promote regeneration of fir.

Opponents pointed out the danger of the fire risk, which, so far, they did not see how to overcome. The timber left standing was liable to windfall and sun scald. In the case of Douglas fir, it was doubted whether new stands would grow in shaded areas. Clear cutting had always been found the best to promote regeneration of fir.

Not Ready Yet For Selective Logging

SIX TIED IN NAIL CONTEST

Still In Experimental Stage, Says Chief Forester; Unknown Factors Yet to be Determined; Returns With Minister of Lands From Inspection Visit in Oregon

It may take ten years to determine whether selective logging is economically sound and of sufficient benefit to warrant adoption in British Columbia, in the opinion of P. E. Cavellhill, chief forester for the province, who returned to-day with Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Lands, from an inspection visit in Oregon.

Protect them from misfortune . . .

"He that hath wife and children hath given hostages to fortune" is as true today as it was when Sir Francis Bacon wrote it. That is why most married men honestly strive, by means of Life Insurance, to provide for their families until their children become self-supporting.

If you would like to make sure of the continuation of a part of your income to your wife and your children, at a time when you may not be here to provide for them personally, fill in and mail this coupon and, without obligation, we will show you how to do it.

Wall St. Displays Strength Despite Realizing Barriers

Associated Press
New York, April 15.—Barriers to resistance were the feature of day's rather active stock market trading. The markets and rails slipped in the early hours, but then their losses were taken. The dealers were clearly courageous and a number of specialists made up substantial gains.

The day was otherwise irregular.

Volume was up—estimated 1,100,000 shares.

Late support appeared for various aircraft, aviation, chemicals and industrial issues. Railings sagged when the supreme court failed to hand down the long-awaited decision in the Wright case. The dealers were clearly courageous and a number of specialists made up substantial gains.

Pioneer Lightkeeper Of Discovery Passes

GRANT COMING FROM ORIENT

Will Arrive To-morrow Morning; Ms. Aorangi Expected Thursday

Mrs. Mary Ann Croft Dies at Her Oak Bay Home, Aged Seventy Years; Was Born on Salt Spring and Lived on Islands All Her Life

Mary Ann Croft, one of the most colorful women pioneer of British Columbia, who for many years tended the light on Discovery Island, passed away at her residence in Oak Bay on Saturday at the age of seventy years.

For her devotion to duty during the thirty years she watched the light, Mrs. Croft was honored at Government House on October 24 by the King, when Lt.-Gov. Sir George W. Ross Johnson presented her with the Imperial Service Medal. Also honored at that function was W. T. Franklin, for many years the keeper of the light at Murray Island.

Mrs. Croft had lived on islands practically all her life. She was born on Salt Spring Island in 1865, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Richard Brant. When a small girl she went to Discovery Island with her father, who had been appointed light-keeper there. Under his able guidance she learned all there was to know about operating lights and foghorns.

RAINED FAMILY TREASURE

When her father died at the turn of the century, his daughter, then nineteen, carried on his duties at the light, raising her family on the island and leading a happy life. She was retired from active service in August, 1922, and during her last years made her home by the waterfront of Oak Bay, from where she could look out each evening at the winning boats, which brought her home for so many happy and interesting years.

Surviving Mrs. Croft are one daughter, Mrs. Edith Mateau of San Francisco, at present visiting in Victoria; one grandson, Richard Mateau, a schoolboy in Portland, Oregon; two daughters in Vancouver, in Seattle; two more in Los Angeles. Mrs. W. Hoover and Mrs. R. McGarrigle, and one sister in Seattle. Mrs. E. Langley.

The remains are repatriating at the Haywood B.C. Funeral Chapel. The funeral service will be private.

It is requested that no flowers be sent.
